EYES SPEAK
Volumes, at times, of woman's happiness or misery. The dull, sunken eye, with its dark circles almost surely speaks of womanly ill-health, and its attendant suffering. With the dull eye goes usually the yellow, sunken cheek, the drawn mouth, the shrunken form—the whole glory of woman's beauty marred by the effects of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which undermine the health and mar the beauty of women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free, and so obtain the advice of a specialist upon their disease. All correspondence is strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"With pleasure I send a few lines to let you know that I feel much better than I did eight years before taking your medicine," writes Mrs. George, of 312 West 11th Street, York, Pa. "Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to every person who may inquire as to what it has done for me. I was troubled with female weakness, and began to think I would never be well. It had continued the treatment prescribed by my doctor I don't know what would have become of me. When your treatment was commenced my weight was 105 pounds, at present it is 130. Have healthy color and my friends say I look well. My best thanks to you and my best wishes, too, for what you have done for me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

BLOODY STORY IN KENTUCKY.

Two sensational affidavits have just been filed at Jackson, Breathitt county, Ky. That county is the scene of the Hargis-Cockrell feud and within its borders 30 men have been killed this year. A number were assassinated and are credited to one or the other of the factions, while several men are exiles from the county because of their fear of assassination.

The affidavits were by Attorney J. B. Marcum and Moses Feltner, his client, accused of the killing of Jesse Fields. The purpose of the affidavits is to secure a continuance of the case of Feltner.

They follow on the heels of sensational statements contained in a letter written to Circuit Judge Baldwin, of Breathitt, by John Patrick, an exile living in Lexington, in which he said he knew who killed James Cockrell, being an eyewitness, but declines to return to Jackson to testify unless the Government will send a company of militia to protect him, alleging that a deputy sheriff attempted to assassinate him and that persons who desire his death will kill him if he returns without the protection of troops.

In his affidavit Moses Feltner tells in detail of alleged plots to kill Attorney J. B. Marcum. He was to do the work, he says, and fearing to refuse pretended to acquiesce, but warned Marcum each time so that the plans failed. He says he feared to appear on the streets of Jackson; that such a state of lawlessness exists that there is no protection to any man, especially to any who are not in sympathy with the county judge and sheriff. He says he has been told that those officers tried to have him assassinated. As for Marcum, he says that in last May he was invited to Judge Hargis's office, where he met John Smith and John Abner, friends of Sheriff Edward Callahan and County Judge James Hargis. He relates that they told him that he was the man to do it. Feltner says he feared to refuse and by appointment met Hargis and Callahan and Abner and Smith that night. The plan unfolded at the meeting was for him to go to Marcum's house, he says, to get him to come to his law office at night, and after parting with him on the return trip to Marcum in the back. Hargis, he alleges, gave him $55 to pay Marcum on account and handed him a shotgun and shell loaded with buckshot. He says he went to Marcum's house, warned him and then told "them" that Marcum would not come out after dark.

The next plan, he states, was for him John Smith and Thomas White to hide near Marcum's house and shoot him when he left it on a morning he was to go to a neighboring town. Again he says he warned Marcum and though they lay in ambush Marcum did not appear. He states that the next plan was for Thomas White to shoot Marcum from Hargis's brother's store, but that Marcum carried his 4-month-old baby in his arms and White would not fire. Suspicion finally upon him, and on getting continuance of his case in court he followed Marcum in flight. Feltner says he has returned to Jackson, but fears to leave his room, and that his attorney, Marcum, is also a prisoner in his own house through fear of assassination. He asks a continuance.

In his affidavit Attorney J. B. Marcum says that he fears to appear at the courthouse or on the streets of Jackson and that he has not been in his office but once since July 15. He says that he has been outspoken against the parties who are accused of assassinating Dr. Cox and James Cockrell and has in other cases incurred the enmity of dangerous and lawless men, and is afraid they will carry out their threat to assassinate him.

The lawyer says he is afraid to risk himself in the hands of the Sheriff and his deputies.

CASE OF DOUBLE WEDDING.

Rabbis Hymen Levinson, Hirsch Abraham Berman, and Wolf Samuelson, three of the most profound scholars of the Orthodox Hebrew Church, began the hearing Monday in Baltimore of the famous Roypen-Oren-Goldberg wedding case, to determine to which man the girl owes her fidelity. It was on Sunday evening, October 12 last, that Marie Roypen on the arm of Sam Oren, of Philadelphia, entered the Moses Montefiore Synagogue to be married.

In the aisle she was confronted by Joseph Goldberg, who slipped a coin into her hand, a ring upon her finger, and declared her to be his wife—and he was, according to the faith of the Orthodox Jews, really his spouse. Rabbi Goodman, who later officiated in the Oren-Roypen marriage, immediately instituted an inquiry and finding, as he believed, that material errors had been made by Goldberg, decided that there had been no wedding and proceeded to marry Oren and Marie. The next day the girl eloped with Goldberg, and it was discovered that the scene in the church had been prearranged. The witnesses Monday were about evenly divided for and against Goldberg. Some of the witnesses said that Goldberg did not slip the coin in the girl's hand, and others testified that he did. The most important witnesses were Rabbi Goodman. His testimony was particularly strong for Oren. He declared that he did not believe that Goldberg had any rightful claim to the girl. "After the interruption by Goldberg in the aisle," said the rabbi, "I asked to see the coin, but Miss Roypen declared she had immediately dropped it. She also told me that Goldberg had not uttered a syllable when he confronted her. Her father, who was immediately behind her, also declared that Goldberg had spoken no word."

Jumped on a Ten-Penny Nail

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and one nail was thrust entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Richard Gibson, Druggist.

A Thanksgiving Dinner.

Heavy eating is usually the first cause of indigestion. Repeated attacks inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach, expose the nerves of the stomach, producing a swelling after eating, heartburn, headache, sour risings and finally catarrh of the stomach. Kodol relieves the inflammation, protects the nerves and cures the catarrh. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia, all stomach troubles by cleansing and sweetening the glands of the stomach. E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh; the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost sense of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiment should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cents. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will ship it.
